ARTHUR RE-ELECTED.

Chief Arthur, of the Locomotive Engineers, Re-Elected.

Little Opposition to the Famous Chief Shown in Voting.

Special Meeting of Brotherhood of Firemen in Denver.

Discussion of the Subject of Federation of Two Bodies.

A Grand Chief Chosen

DENVER, October 28.—On assembling at 9 o'clock this morning the convention of locomotive engineers proceeded to put in nomination candidates for grand chief. The Ohio delegation put in nomination P. M. Arthur. This was followed by the nomination of Vroman of North Platte, Neb., Vedder of Sedalia and Bellows of Mississippi. An informal ballot was called for and the result showed that Arthur had the convention almost unanimously. This great change in the feeling of the delegates is supposed to be the result of the recent trial and exit are of Grand Officer Cavener of Chicago. The first formal ballot decided the question with the following vote: Arthur 313, Vroman 101, Vedder 1 and Bellows 1. The convention adjourned at noon.

On reassembling the convention proceeded to the election of a third grand assistant engineer. The result was not made public until to-night, when Chief Arthur stated that Joseph Sprague, of Canada, the present incumbent, was re-elected by a unanimous vote. The nominations were then made for second grand assistant engineer. Hedrick, of Pennsylvania, and Hays, of California, were the favorite candidates, but after six ballots had been taken without any result, the convention adjourned until to-morrow.

During the afternoon the convention appointed a committee to call upon John J. Hannahan of Chicago, vice grand master of the International Brotherhood of Locomotive Firemen, who is in the city attending a called meeting of the order and requested him to address the brotherhood. Mr. Hannahan appeared before the convention just before adjournment and delivered an interesting address in which he heartily endorsed federation.

[illegible]

DENVER, October 28.—One hundred and fifty delegates to a special meeting of the International Brotherhood of Locomotive Firemen met here yesterday afternoon for the purpose of discussing the proposed labor federation [illegible] now agitating the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers. John J. Hannahan, vice grand master, with headquarters at Chicago, presided. He with other advocates of federation endorsed the articles presented at Omaha with but slight modification. In other words, the individual labor organizations will under the proposed plan occupy the same relation to the whole body of organized labor that the respective states bear to the federal union. After considerable discussion the convention voted unanimously in favor of the question and appointed a committee to notify the Brotherhood of Engineers of the result of the meeting. The majority of the delegates present were from Colorado, New York, Pennsylvania, Illinois and California.

[illegible] Citizen

ST. LOUIS, October 28.—Oliver Garrison, an old and prominent citizen of St. Louis, committed suicide this morning in Forest park by shooting himself through the head. For some time past he has been suffering from kidney trouble and despondency over the incurable ailment was undoubtedly the cause of his self-destruction.

The deceased and his brother built the first steamboat to ply between St. Louis and New Orleans in 1857. He was elected president of the Mechanics' bank, in which position he served for twenty-two years. While president of the bank and receiver of the Missouri Pacific road he was elected vice-president of the road and took it out of the hands of the receiver. He was still vice president when the road was sold to Jay Gould.

The Montana C[illegible]

HELENA, Mont., October 28.—The mandamus case in the Silver Bow contest was opened before Judge DeWolfe this morning at Butte. Suit was brought in the name of the people of Montana to which the attorney for the republicans objected, making the point that it should be in the name of the territory. The judge sustained the objection but gave the other side leave to amend. The attorney for the republicans then moved to quash the writ and court adjourned till morning when the argument on the motion will be commenced. This case, while not that of the members of the legislature, involves the same points. The mandamus is asked for by various democratic county candidates who are defeated unless the Tunnel precinct is counted.

Buried in the Ruins

SELMA, October 28.—A contractor named Taylor and four colored men were buried in the ruins of a burned building this morning. One man is not expected to live and the others are dangerously injured.

A[illegible] Bank Suspended.

ABILENE, Kas., October 28.—The Abilene bank suspended this morning. The liabilities are $100,000 and it is claimed that the assets are $600,000. The depreciation which followed the boom in 1887 has steadily dragged the bank down and business is practically paralyzed.

Working Ag[illegible] Ratification.

LONDON, October 28.—The Standard's Shanghai special says: "Li Hung Chang is working to secure the ratification of the Chefoo telegraph convention. The A[illegible] minister earnestly protests against the convention, and it is hoped he will be able to defeat the proposal."

Sure of the Contract

BALTIMORE, October 28.—W. T. Malster, president of the Columbian Iron works, the lowest bidder for two of the 2000 ton cruisers, says that Secretary Tracy has [illegible] him that his company would receive the contract for both vessels, and told him to return home to prepare for work.

Only One

NORFOLK, Va., October 28.—On W[illegible] day night a schooner went ashore where the cape breakers have been so bad. Rescue was impossible till this morning when the life saving crew rescued R. L. Grant, the only survivor of the crew of five. The others succumbed to exhaustion and exposure.

PHILADELPHIA, October 28.—The police are still anxiously awaiting the arrival of the picture of the supposed Tascott in Chicago. It is expected to reach there to-night. From further examination of the scars the police are convinced they have Tascott. A man here who knew Tascott when he was a boy says the prisoner looks very much like him.

C[illegible] of Lewis' Case.

WASHINGTON, October 28.—The hearing of the charges against W. R. Lewis, United States consul to Morocco, by Secretary Blaine, was concluded to-day. M. Benzaell, the Fez merchant, and Ramon Areque, formerly Lewis' interpreter, were examined at length. The finding of the department will be announced in a short time.

A Noble W[illegible]g.

LONDON, October 28.—The marriage of Prince Hatzfeldt to Clara Huntington, daughter of C. P. Huntington of New York took place to-day in the Catholic oratory at Brompton. The ceremony was performed by Bishop Emmons. The wedding was private, only relatives and a few friends of the bride and groom being present. The wedding breakfast was served at the German embassy, after which the couple started for Italy.

SAULT STE. MARIE, Mich., October 28.—Opium smuggling has been carried on at this point for the past six months on an extensive scale, the smugglers bringing the drug from Vancouver and working it across the river in small boats. A special United States customs' detective has arrived here to assist the local officers in arresting the parties implicated, of whom there are quite a number. Some of gang are now at Port Huron waiting a chance to smuggle across from Sarnia $2,000 worth they have lately imported.

Pil[illegible] Mills to be Sold

MINNEAPOLIS, Minn., October 28.—The recent report that the C. C. Washburn mills will be sold is followed to-night by the announcement that the sales of the Pillsbury mills and also that of the Washburn mills are about to be consummated. For the first time in connection with these deals the price is given as regards the Pillsbury interests. It is reported that the option on the Pillsbury system of mills and elevators calls for $5,200,000. The purchasers are the English syndicate heretofore mentioned and the sale is on the same plan outlined in these dispatches some time since. The Pillsburys will retain an interest in the new company.

Motions for Advance.

WASHINGTON, October 28.—In the supreme court to-day a motion was made to advance the case of Sheriff Cunningham against Deputy Marshal Nagle. This case grew out of the recent [illegible] tragedy which resulted in the shooting of Terry in California by Deputy Marshall Nagle, while protecting Justice Field from assault.

A motion was also made to advance the case of the people of the state of California [illegible] the [illegible] railroad company. This suit arises out of the assessment of the property of the railroad at its full cash value without deducting the value of the mortgages on the road as is done in the case of other than railroad property.

White Caps at Work

NO[illegible]VILLE, N. Y., October 28.—A tragedy occurred near here late Saturday night. Oscar Barclay has made himself notorious by his visits to two women at the house of Samuel Covington. Barclay's father, two brothers and a dozen neighbors disguised as "White Caps" went to Covington's house, took Covington out and tarred and feathered him and rode him on a rail. Going back for young Barclay, he met them at the head of the stairs with a gun. As the party came on he fired, killing his youngest brother Fred. Barclay made no effort to escape and was arrested yesterday afternoon. Four of the "White Caps" are under arrest.

THE CONNORS GUILTY.

[illegible] Verdict in the C[illegible] Mail Company Case.

The Defendants Found Guilty on All of the Five Counts.

Probable That Application Will be Made for a New Trial.

Taking Evidence for the Prosecution in the Cronin Case.

Guilty on all the Counts

DENVER, Oct. 28.—The jury in the famous Connors-Marshall case, wherein the defendants were charged with conspiracy to rob the Rio Grande express from near Gunnison last April, to-night returned a verdict of "guilty on all five counts." Considerable interest is manifested in the case as the defendants are well known men. Jim Connors was at one time first lieutenant of the Denver police, and Marshall is the proprietor of one of the largest gambling halls in Kansas City. It is understood that a motion will be made for a new trial.

Gathering the Evidence.

CHICAGO, October 28.—At the opening of the Cronin trial this morning, Super Moreland, employed in Dinan's livery stable, testified to the facts of hiring the white horse as testified to by Dinan on Saturday. He said that when the horse came back at 1:30 a. m. he was puffing and gave evidence of having been hard driven. The buggy was covered with mud and sand.

Mrs. Conklin, at whose house Dr. Cronin last lived, was the next witness. She retold at great length and with much minuteness the story of how Dr. Cronin was called for by a man who ostensibly wanted him to go to attend one of O'Sullivan's ice men who had been hurt. This was on the evening of the murder. She identified the horse and buggy on which he was taken away as the white horse and top buggy taken from Dinan's livery stable on an order from Detective Dan Coughlin, one of the prisoners. She also described an interview she had with O'Sullivan on the following day in the presence of a Pinkerton man. O'Sullivan, she said, confessed that appearances were against him but declared he knew nothing about the matter and did not send for Cronin. She was cross-examined at great length.

Mrs. Conklin's cross examination brought out the fact that within a few days after the disappearance of Cronin, Captain Schaack brought Dinan's white horse and buggy to her house for identification, and she failed then to identify the animal. On the 25th of May when the animal was brought by a reporter she identified it. Mrs. Conklin accounted for this by saying that the circumstances of weather and light were different at these times. The reporter presented the animal under similar conditions as when the doctor was driven away. The cross-examination lasted until late in the afternoon. Charles Beck, the reporter, who drove the horse to Conklin's house when Mrs. Conklin identified it, merely testified to this effect.

Sarah McNeary, who was in Dr. Cronin's reception room when the mysterious man came for him, gave a description of the individual tallying closely with that given by Mrs. Conklin. Dr. Cronin's brother, from Arkansas, testified briefly to having identified the Lakeview corpse as that of his brother. Then Conklin, the saloonkeeper with whom Cronin resided, was recalled and testified to starting out the first morning of Cronin's absence to search for the doctor. At O'Sullivan's house the ice man was seen and denied having sent for Cronin or that any one of his men had been hurt.

China's [illegible] Railroad

WASHINGTON, October 28.—Minister Denby, under date of September 16, communicates to the war department a copy of the imperial decree sanctioning the construction of the Grand Trunk railway from Hankow to Peking. Li Hung Chang will build the northern half and Chi Tung the southern half. Denby says the great railway will immediately command a large passenger traffic and soon a large freight traffic. It has the advantage also of doing away with the isolation of the capital which during three months of the year, from the middle of December to the middle of March is now cut off from communication with the outer world. The railway will pass through three provinces, Chihli, Honan and Hupei and possibly it may traverse Han S[illegible] also. It is supposed that no large loan will be negotiated, but that the road will be built in sections, the money being raised by degrees.

Ill-Fated Johnstown.

JOHNSTOWN, Pa., October 28.—Beyond the washing away of the piers of the Cambria Iron company's railroad bridge, no damage has yet been done by the flood. The [illegible] bridge across the Conemaugh is in a very bad condition and it is feared that it will go if the river continues to rise. Woodvale is considerably flooded but no serious damage is yet reported. It has been raining steadily all day.

Prominent Lawyer Shot

WASHINGTON, October 28.—Edward Hunt, a well known lawyer, [illegible] steeplechase rider and owner of several race horses, was shot and seriously wounded this afternoon during an altercation in a saloon by George [illegible] formerly proprietor of a notorious [illegible] in this city, but now a political worker in Maryland.

McKee Wanted as a Witness

WINNIPEG, Manitoba, October 28.—Assistant State's Attorney Baker of Chicago, who was here during the Burke extradition proceedings, returned to Winnipeg to-day to try to induce Chief of Police McRae to go to Chicago as a witness. Baker is also investigating the statements of [illegible] inmates that Burke, while incarcerated here, made confessions to three of them.

[illegible] Proctor Asked for Aid

WASHINGTON, October 28.—Representative Hansbrough, North Dakota's new congressman, called upon Secretary Proctor to-day in the interests of the residents of Ransom county in that state. Their crops have been a failure for the past two years and they are in a destitute condition. The winter is approaching but they are not able to purchase fuel.

Gilmore's Reception

DENVER, Oct. 28.—The opening performance of Gilmore's band to-night in the new Metropolitan theatre proved the most successful affair of the kind ever held in the city. The enormous building was packed to its doors, even standing room being held at a premium. The enthusiasm of the audience was great. Gilmore on several occasions was compelled to respond three or four times before he continued the programme. The participation of a local chorus of 250 persons proved an additional treat.

D[illegible] Physician's Misfortune.

NEW YORK, October 28.—Dr. A. A. Clough, a prominent physician of Denver, was taken to the Bellevue hospital last night suffering from a severe scalp wound. Dr. Clough has been a sufferer from vertigo and came to New York for treatment. He arrived in this city a few days ago and engaged apartments at the Hotel Royal. While walking with friends last night in front of the hotel he fell heavily to the walk. He was picked up insensible. He resides at No. 1345 Milton street, Denver.

Fell from a Train.

Bob Stewart and two young boys named Burner, and Mrs. Stewart, all connected with the Salvation army for some time, started to go to Pueblo last night, when Stewart met with an accident that may prove fatal. Mrs. Stewart was placed on the 11 o'clock D. & R. G. train and her fare paid but the men decided to "cut their way on the next down freight." Stewart put his wife on the train and then climbed on the blind baggage, leaving the boys to catch the freight. They walked down the track a few minutes later, and near the freight house found Stewart lying beside the track with his head split open and the fingers of the right hand bruised and cut. The police were informed and the injured man taken to the marshal's office, where Dr. Strickler dressed the wounds. Stewart was unconscious and the physician was unable to say how badly he was injured. He is a brick mason by trade and intended going to work at Pueblo. The boys were of the opinion that he had been pushed off the train, perhaps by tramps also stealing a ride, as he was squarely on the platform of the car when last seen by them.

The V[illegible]

Felix and Eva Vincent and the worst company of barn stormers that has appeared in Colorado Springs for many a day held the boards at the opera house last night. Tom Taylor wrote good dramas that the people of a generation ago appreciated, and which, like good wine, increase their flavor with age. It is unfortunate, perhaps, that the public taste has been so vitiated by very poor wine that they are little seen to-day. Perhaps one of the prettiest bits turned out by the author of "A Fool's Revenge" was the drama, "Father and Son," and it was this that the Vincent company played last night. Felix Vincent is a rare old actor of the school that is rapidly becoming too few. His Paul Staplton, the faithful old porter, is a creation that leaves little to be desired. The scene in which he learned of the innocence of his son was one of the most exquisite bits of acting ever witnessed on a stage in this city. Nothing can be said of the supporting company other than that it carried on the dialogue when Vincent was off the stage. In an after piece called "The Bonnie Fish Wife," Eva Vincent sang a medley very well and displayed considerable versatility as a delineator of Scotch character. She also exhibited a number of very pretty dresses during the evening.

Completely Denied.

The charges that were so freely circulated about the streets last week that City Clerk and Treasurer Cochran, of Colorado City, was short in his accounts have been fully denied. At a meeting of the council held last night Mr. Cochran presented a new bond in place of the missing one, which was accepted by the council. A unanimous resolution was passed designating the banking house of J. B. Wheeler & Co. of Colorado City as the depository of the [illegible] and releasing Mr. Cochran and his bondsmen from any responsibility in the case of [illegible] of the bank. The following resolutions were then passed, six members being present and voting but Alderman Hennessey:

Whereas, It has been reported that there was a shortage in the accounts of the city treasurer, and

Whereas, Mr. James Cochran, treasurer of this city, has at this meeting shown to this board a certificate of deposit for every cent which should be in the treasury of this city, exclusive of what is now with the banking house of J. B. Wheeler & Co., now, therefore, be it

Resolved, By this board that they hereby say that there is nothing whatever in the charges that have been made against James A. Cochran, treasurer of this town, and that every cent which should be in the treasury of this town is there.

There is nothing that better shows the good condition of the country than the amount of railroad building. When the country is growing; railroads are building. The best index for the amount of railroad building is the demand for steel rails. According to present reports, the mills are full of orders and the output is all taken. This is the best evidence of our present prosperity.

As announced in the Gazette some days ago a call for subscriptions toward the fund for a printer's home, to be located in this city, was issued from the headquarters of the International Typographical union last week. The local union was prompt in responding to the call with a handsome sum. Yesterday a letter was received notifying the members that the sum was the first union subscription received. Colorado Springs leads, others follow.

Again the stars and stripes have been hissed at a meeting of socialists in Chicago. This exhibition of contempt for the flag of the country, which has given them people a refuge, is only one more reminder of the mistake the country is making in allowing these thugs to land on our shores. There is evidently a pressing need of another example—such as the hanging of the leaders of the Haymarket riot was—for the benefit of these blood-thirsty, law defying people.

Thomas A. Janvier believes in the Mexican constitutional republic as a working success. He will contribute to Harper's Magazine for November an article in which, with the assistance of fourteen illustrations drawn from life by Frederick Remington, he describes the Mexican army, and explains how Porfirio Diaz has created "an orderly, well disciplined, trustworthy" military force, loyal to the nation and to the idea of national unity, out of a mass of scattered commands faithful only to their respective generals. Mr. Janvier considers this development as full of political significance for the future of Mexico and as the surest guarantee that the days of revolution are ended.

The Charleston News and Courier seems to think that Governor Hill did not go to Georgia to start his presidential boom. This is what it says:

> We do not believe that Governor Hill went to Atlanta to start his presidential ball rolling. He would like to be president, no doubt; but, as he would not accept the republican nomination, and as there is no chance of the [illegible] selecting him as the standard bearer, and as Georgia is already pretty well committed to Mr. Cleveland, we do not think that so astute a politician as Governor Hill would try to play with the cards so well stacked against him. We have no doubt, indeed, that when he shall return to New York, he will call on Mr. Cleveland and tell him that, because the south is solid for good government, solid for the welfare of the people, solid for integrity in private and official life, solid in opposition to a paternal [illegible] of public affairs, solid against [illegible] extravagance, the south is solid for Mr. Cleveland. To be the bearer of such tidings to him its nutritious [illegible] and friend will surely be to Governor Hill the crowning felicity of his brief visit to the Empire state of the south.

The Australian ballot system, which was used at the late Montana election, provides that where a person cannot read or write English he may have his ballot prepared for him by the judges. Four hundred employes of the Anaconda smelters, it is reported, took advantage of this provision and passed in a printed slip to the judges at their polling places on which were the words: "I cannot read or write English and wish to vote the straight democratic ticket." The democrats claim about four hundred majority for Mr. Toole their candidate for governor. If their claim is proven to be a just one it was from this band of intelligent, and no doubt patriotic, Italians who could neither read nor write that they got it. It must be a matter of congratulation among the good citizens of Montana that they enter the union with a class of people so eminently fitted to discharge the [illegible] duties of citizens. Mr. [illegible] four hundred [illegible] holding the balance of power. It may be that Mr. Toole is as well fitted to perform the duties of the executive office as his [illegible] competitor but were these ignorant Italians capable of making an intelligent choice between the two men and the principles each represented? The [illegible] to our people and the danger to our republican government in allowing people who can neither read nor write to touch a free American ballot, must be apparent to all.

A Query.

To the Editor of the Gazette:

Perhaps you may remember that an Art Loan exhibition was held last fall in Weber hall. You may also remember that a painting, "The Merry Shoemaker," and a copy of Mrs. Jackson's "Procession of Flowers," were donated to the exhibition to be raffled, the proceeds to go to the object for the benefit of which the affair was held. If I am not mistaken the required number of tickets were not sold for either of the articles during the time the Loan exhibition was held, and both were to be placed at the Consolidated Book store to be raffled later when the tickets were all disposed of. Can you tell me whether these articles were ever raffled, and, if so, who were the lucky persons who drew them? I am laboring under the impression that this raffle has never come off and if it has not can you tell me when it will occur?

THE LUCKY NUMBER.

[illegible] a Congressman's Face.

KANSAS CITY, Oct. 28.—Mayor Davenport this afternoon slapped Congressman Tarsney in the face and narrowly escaped being shot. It was all on account of the entertainment of the All American tourists. The mayor had vetoed, on the ground that it was unconstitutional, an ordinance passed by the city council appropriating $1,000 for entertainment. Council passed it over his veto again, and then the mayor ordered the city treasurer not to recognize the drafts upon the treasury for that purpose.

At a meeting of the committee at the Commercial club this afternoon Congressman Tarsney referred to the mayor's action in [illegible] terms. Mayor Davenport replied that if he could help it not a cent of the city's money would be [illegible] illegally, but he would contribute from his pocket as much as Tarsney or any other man for the entertainment. Tarsney replied, "I do not care to resort to pot house measures."

Davenport asked the congressman to repeat his remarks. Tarsney [illegible], but the words were no [illegible] out of his mouth than the mayor dealt him a resounding slap full in the face. Tarsney reached into his hip pocket for a revolver but friends prevented his using the weapon.

The [illegible] War.

LOUISVILLE, Ky., Oct. 28.—The Courier-Journal correspondent telegraphs from Pineville to-night [illegible]: "I saw to-day a [illegible] from Harlan county court house who left there at noon yesterday. He reports everything as being singularly quiet. Judge Lewis and his [illegible] are still in [illegible] of the court house. Wilson Howard has not been seen since last Tuesday's battle and it is generally believed that he has crossed the mountain to Virginia.

Judge Lewis accompanied by twenty picked men from his forces made a trip on Saturday up Martin fork extending their search into Virginia and returning down Poor fork to the court house late Saturday evening. They were looking for Wilson Howard and Bill Jennings, the two leaders whom Judge Lewis says he is determined to kill or capture at all hazards. Jim L. Howard, sheriff of Harlan county who was in Frankfort last week, returned to the county Friday but did not go to his house. He saw and consulted with his friends who advised him to keep out of the county for the present. Acting under their advice he left again yesterday. The impression prevails that he is preparing to inaugurate a movement which will result in the dispersal of the warring factions and the capture of the ring leaders.

It can be stated positively that Sheriff Howard expresses himself as being really anxious for a restoration of peace. Many of the good citizens of Harlan are also becoming [illegible] at the existing state of affairs and they will probably secure a settlement of the troubles. All the wounded in the fight of last Tuesday are doing well and will probably recover. Bird Spurlock, whose injuries were [illegible] serious is not yet out of danger, but he will likely manage to pull through. No further collision is expected in any event until Howard has had time to collect adherents and organize a new plan of campaign.

[illegible] National [illegible] Convention.

The [illegible] for the National silver convention, to assemble in Grand Music hall St. Louis, November 26th, have been [illegible]. The promoters of the movement in that city have shown a great deal of earnestness in the work and from advices received, the business people of the city appreciate the importance of the convention by the manner in which they have subscribed to the fund for the entertainment of the delegates and visitors. The indications are that the convention will attract an attendance of upwards of 20,000 people coming from all parts of the United States. From the mining country there will be several special cars and displays of minerals from leading camps. The Grand Music hall, which has been secured for the convention, for November 26, 27, 28, 29, is one of the largest and best arranged halls in the country. It has an adequate seating capacity for both delegates and spectators, while at the same time the former are placed compactly and advantageously. The entertainment being arranged by St. Louis, will include a grand Thanksgiving Day dinner. This will be an elaborate affair, and a decided novelty. It will probably be held in the hall of the Merchants' exchange, which has the largest floor area of any hall of its character in the country. The hall will be elegantly decorated with flowers and the trimmings usually used. There will also be entertainments during the other four days of the session of the convention, and St. Louis will make every effort to surpass herself in caring for her guests. The delegate representation will be large from all the states and territories to whom is delegated the authority of appointing delegates and they have shown a great deal of care in selecting the best possible men for the positions. The same care will be taken by the executive committee in its selection of 100 delegates at large, provided for, from the United States. The attendance from senators and ex-members of congress, will also be large. From present indications the convention will result in a great deal of good, in educating the people of the country, particularly of the agricultural districts, up to the importance of the silver question outside, of what benefit it may be to those actually engaged in the mining industry.

THE MOUNTAIN FASTNESSES OF FAR AWAY KOREA

[illegible] Naturally Beautiful [illegible] Colored [illegible] [illegible] Interesting [illegible]

[illegible]

[illegible] rule over China, they [illegible] content with exacting a tribute from the Koreans, who naturally do not care to see that "the grave is kept green" in the case of this monument.

The fortress to which the king took refuge at this time is situated some twelve miles southeast from the capital. It is a basin joined by several peaks that terminate a ridge of mountains and end along [illegible] in a low flat plain extending away to the river that skirts the city. This place is well kept, and has a wall about the whole enclosure for further protection. The gates are reached by really excellent roads arranged after the plan of inclined planes and provided with a protecting guard where the roads look off like a precipice. Within the walls the enclosure is as like a great park, with its dashing stream fed by living springs, the grand pavilions beautifully capping the loftiest peaks and the luxuriousness and variety of the shrubbery and trees.

Quite a little town will be seen nestling down in the lowest portion of the [illegible] surrounding the great temples and stone [illegible]. The beauty of this place is decidedly enhanced by artificial means, though nature has not been at all sparing in its gifts. But for wild [illegible] of nature a similar place, a short distance north of the city, excels. Seoul, the capital, lies at the end of a long ridge of high mountains, which here break [illegible] to allow room for the river and its adjacent low [illegible]. A few miles north of the city may be seen a number of [illegible] "[illegible] tooth" like [illegible] that are usually [illegible] in cloud. They form the northern bounds of the fastness about to be described.

In company with a party of officers from a United States man-of-war, we started out one bright June morning to visit this place by royal [illegible]. Horses arrived for our use at daylight, and as they were all stallions and not remarkably attractive as to disposition, [illegible] lively and [illegible] took [illegible] before the whole party was [illegible]. The [illegible] are somewhat after the style of a Mexican [illegible] with a circular loop [illegible] the front, where [illegible] should be [illegible] is for use in holding on. To make things easy for the [illegible] a very thick mat [illegible] the [illegible] of a [illegible] and as the tough little [illegible] are not very high the [illegible] thus [illegible] to keep a long man's foot from [illegible] of his pony.

[illegible] with such [illegible] the [illegible] cannot be very well [illegible], though the [illegible] brace themselves and haul away at the girths till the [illegible] tired of having his wind all [illegible] out of him [illegible] to kicking and [illegible]. This is [illegible] in the matter of girths was soon [illegible] one of our party, placing his foot in the stirrup [illegible] to mount [illegible] fully, but soon found himself on his back on the ground, while his [illegible] was [illegible] a terrific [illegible] to kick the [illegible] off his belly, where it had slipped owing to the [illegible] upon one stirrup. After [illegible] and the [illegible] mounting of [illegible] that had to be held with [illegible] head while the [illegible] in the [illegible] we started off on a lively gallop, which was kept up for the most of the ten miles.

In [illegible] of taking the near cut, up the almost [illegible] we went around by a good road, that led through the [illegible] and around the spur of the [illegible], to the [illegible] along the course of the stream that flows out from the [illegible]. It was a good climb from the valley to the outside gate, which, by the way, only opened into a walled in valley between two arms of the mountain, while the road to this gate [illegible] followed the natural surface of the [illegible] side that a [illegible] gun could have a perfect [illegible] of the whole approach.

The walls of this gate were [illegible] to be some twenty feet thick, while the doors proper were of heavy wood, [illegible] with iron plates. Above the gate was the usual pavilion, through which a cold wind blew down from the heights above, and from which a wide stretch of valley could be seen, through a part of which our [illegible] path lay. From this gate we followed a path which grew rougher as we ascended, while alongside, and at times under us, as we [illegible] the bridges, dashed the cool, mountain stream. After a good, long climb, during which every man [illegible] the tough, surefooted little beast, whose surplus [illegible] now being worked off, bore him safely along winding paths worn off rock [illegible] which at times ended in abrupt [illegible] we arrived at another gate made in a [illegible] of wall built across the small gap between two lofty arms of the mountain, and underneath which water gates with iron bars served to let the mountain stream escape.

From this place, only [illegible] by such a rough and dangerous defile as to be almost impassable to large bodies of men, and easily guarded, our road was more easy to climb, though still very steep and rocky, while the [illegible] stream [illegible] now to rest at [illegible] in cool, clear pools that should have been the home of many trout. In one place of exceeding beauty a little pavilion had been built [illegible] over the stream, on tall rock pillars, so as to command a view from the lofty ridge at the [illegible] opposite side, down the course of the waterfall to the [illegible] gate, and up a wild valley at right angles to the one we were [illegible], where tigers were known to [illegible].

After resting and feeling our [illegible] while feasting our minds on this rare [illegible] of nature, we pushed on to what [illegible] to be the center of the place. Here we found a great Buddhist temple and many surrounding buildings, one of which [illegible] a [illegible] hall for the naval [illegible]. Here a foreign meal was [illegible] by cooks trained in foreign [illegible] sent from the [illegible] and [illegible] the beverage [illegible] at [illegible] and the sparkling "Extra Dry," while foreign cakes, nuts and cigars, with strong black coffee, wound up the feast, which then gave place to a [illegible] by a band of performers on stringed instruments. The wild, weird strains of the music, fitting in aptly with the [illegible] made our own [illegible] and the [illegible] nature of the feast we had just enjoyed contrast very strongly with all about us.

Our view from this [illegible] was simply magnificent. Back of us the "dumb tooth" [illegible] we had seen in the distance [illegible] themselves into individual piles of barren rock, the nearest one of a sugar loaf [illegible] rising like a great round [illegible] into the clouds, while from our near proximity we could not see the others. Nothing [illegible] could be wished than that [illegible] by [illegible] peaks and the steep "knife edge" ridges that [illegible] them, while opposite us the high encircling ridge [illegible] almost [illegible] capped by a wall.

After a good rest we [illegible] and with an escort of the [illegible] who, in soldier's garb, garrison the [illegible], we started for the [illegible] gate at the [illegible] of the enclosure. On our way [illegible] the stores [illegible] kept [illegible]

[illegible] H. N. ALLEN.

Samuel Lankin died in this city Sunday, about 12 o'clock in the morning. Mr. Lankin came to this city some six years ago from Jefferson City, Mo., suffering with consumption. He was greatly benefited and his life prolonged, but it was evident to his friends that his life could not be a long one. He had not been as well as usual for some days and his mother had arrived on Saturday to [illegible] with him. Sunday noon he laid down upon his bed to rest, and quietly passed away. A short funeral service was held at No. 207 North Nevada avenue, in the evening, Rev. Richard Montague and Rev. H. B. Bell officiating. The remains were taken to Jefferson City yesterday morning. Mr. Lankin was about 28 years of age, and was of a bright, genial disposition. Many warm friends in this city mourn his death.

The local G. A. R. post is having its post room nicely refitted. A large rug [illegible] been placed in the middle of the room and the floor newly stained. New curtains are to be added and the pictures rehung. The appearance will be greatly altered when the changes are made. Next Monday night an oyster supper is to be given in the post room, to which the public is invited. The proceeds will be for the benefit of the post.

Some idea of the amount of improvement done in the city during the year can be gleaned from the amount of brick made. Since last April about 9,000,000 brick were made in this vicinity as follows: Rankin & Co., 4,500,000; Atkinson & Son, 1,000,000; John Epley, a Denver party, 1,000,000; Mr. Parker at Colorado City, 400,000; W. H. Goshen, 2,000,000. Only 3,000,000 remain on hand unsold.

RALEIGH, N. C., October 29.—About two weeks ago Robert Berry killed his mother in law at Lexington, N. C., and on being captured was lynched. Solicitor Long has made an affidavit before Judge Phillips on which twenty of the lynchers have been arrested. Some of the ring leaders have fled.

Fight Bet[illegible] Woodsmen

MENDOCINO, Cala., October 28.—John Clements and Andrew Dacesta, woodsmen, engaged in a fight this morning. Clements struck Dacesta in the breast with an axe, inflicting dangerous wounds. The latter then obtained possession of the axe and struck Clements in the face with it killing him instantly. It is believed Dacesta's wound will also prove fatal.

It will be seen from the above that the Springs team opens a long and busy season at the home grounds on November 16th, against the Denver High schools. The management is trying to get the strongest eleven procurable by playing as many new men as possible in the games against the college. Next Saturday's will be the last of these trial games, after which the team to represent the club in its first scheduled game will be picked, and one more friendly game played against the collegians before tackling the Denver men. By these means it is hoped that we will have a team worthy of the city, even if it should fail in securing the much coveted pennant. It is hoped the public will take an interest in the games as the players being residents in, are thoroughly representative of this branch of sport in the city, apart from the fact that they one and all play from a sheer love of the game.

Another opportunity will be afforded to register, but it will require the affidavit of the voter himself and two other registered voters. It will save trouble to register to day.

On Sunday evening three men who had been working for the city on the Bear creek pipe line started to town, intending to take a train for Pueblo. About 9:30 o'clock they were walking across the Midland trestle and when at the highest portion, one of the men named B[illegible] stumbled and fell off. He went down about 30 feet. His companions came to town and informed the police and a wagon was sent to pick him up. He was taken to the city hall and remained there until yesterday morning when he was removed to the county hospital. No bones were broken but the physicians are inclined to believe that the man has sustained severe internal injuries.

Below is given the programme for the concert to be given in Weber hall this evening for the benefit of the building fund. The young ladies of the Y. P. S. of C. E. have worked very hard in preparing the programme, and a treat can be expected. The following is the programme:
